

STRIKE LIKELY IN W. VIRGINIA

Executive Board of Mine War News Union Is Now Vested with Full Authority.

WANT A WALKOUT

Belief Is Prevalent that Situation in Southern Field May Mean Lower Wages.

(Special by Scripps-Melroe.) Chicago, Ill., June 10.—Within a month, it is declared, the United Mine Workers of America expect to call a strike in the West Virginia coal fields, although many of the miners are nonunion men. President John Mitchell and the executive board of the union have been vested with the power to call out the union miners whenever they see fit, and is informally announced here that the fight is to open early in July.

President Mitchell would neither deny nor affirm the statement, although he acknowledged that the situation is critical and may necessitate drastic action unless the operators cease opposing the union.

Organize West Virginia. At the annual convention of the miners, held in Indianapolis in January, it was decided to make the West Virginia fields the center of organization for the next twelve months. Twelve of the leading men of the union have been there since that time under the working orders of Vice President Nichols.

Despite their endeavors but little has been accomplished. The mountainous country, the diversity of interests among the workers themselves, and the number of nationalities has made their work difficult. They are now ready to call a strike, hoping that through it they can bring the miners into their organization, as was done in Pennsylvania.

Clamor for Strike. A strike has been on in the New River fields since last year, and two months ago caused an open fight between deputies and a number of colored miners. Later seven unionists were killed.

The members of the united mine-workers are in an excited state and are clamoring for a strike. Their chief argument is that the West Virginia fields are now a menace to interstate districts, and, if allowed to remain in their present condition, will force a reduction of wages even as far west as Illinois.

Mitchell Will Not Talk. "While I am willing to acknowledge that the situation in West Virginia is serious," said President Mitchell, "I am not willing to talk about a strike there, though it may have to come. Just when, I cannot say."

"I am in Chicago on my way to Danville, Ill., where I will attend a joint conference. There are a few minor matters with the operators to be settled at that point. From there I go to Pennsylvania to attend the convention of the anthracite men."

Striking Miners on Trial. Charleston, W. Va., June 10.—The cases against the striking miners, who are charged with resisting arrest at Atkinsville and Stanaford City on Feb. 21 and 25, were begun by Judge Kellar in the federal court. The indictments grew out of the injunction issued against the miners and the battles between them and the posse under Deputy Marshal Dan Cunningham when the latter attempted to carry out the order of the court, during which a number of men were killed.

OLEOMARGARINE DEALERS WIN

Massachusetts State Law Is Hard Hit by Decision of Judge.

Boston, Mass., June 10.—The Massachusetts state law against the sale of oleomargarine received a severe blow in the Superior criminal court, where Judge Bishop decided the case of the commonwealth against Carl Himberg in favor of the defendant. This was one of the famous oleomargarine cases, and was selected for trial as a test case.

The decision vindicates the claims of the oleomargarine dealers on all points, and will probably overthrow the state law against the sale of the product. This decision determines the fate of nearly all the other cases awaiting trial. It is probable that an appeal will be made to the Supreme court.

Judge Bishop rules in effect that it is not unlawful to make and sell oleomargarine which resembles butter in color. There was no evidence of the introduction of any substance for the purpose of coloring an article which would otherwise be oleomargarine.

Lives Sacrificed to Duty.

It has been carefully estimated that there have been about 100 lives sacrificed to duty in the coal fields of West Virginia since 1900.

MERCHANT DESTROYS STOCK OF TOBACCO

Claims to Have Divine Revelation That No User of the Weed Can Obtain.

Mishawaka, Ind., June 10.—Swayed by influence which he asserts was imparted through divine revelation, J. Fred Hollister, Mishawaka's wealthiest merchant, startled the city with an order to his employees that all tobacco and cigars in his big store must be burned. The stock was the largest carried by any local establishment, but the owner would neither sell nor give it away.

Mr. Hollister avows that spirit messages impelled him to destroy the stock, besides informing him that no person using or selling tobacco can obtain salvation. He himself used tobacco. The tidings came to Hollister at the same time that his wife was cured at a religious camp meeting. She was at the point of death from consumption, but arose suddenly after local and Chicago specialists had pronounced her case hopeless, and walked from the tent, and seems now to be a strong and healthy woman. She attributes her cure to supernatural force.

Hollister is a member of the board of education, owns large tracts of valuable land in the county and is among the most substantial business men in Mishawaka.

GOVERNMENT HAS MADE EXPERIMENT

Sends Out a Bulletin Regarding the New Process of Preserving Ties.

Manila, June 10.—The Philippine commission has enacted a bill providing for the government of the Moros. Gov. Taft and Maj. Gen. Davis jointly drafted the measure. It practically makes the Moro province an autonomous colony of the Philippines which the Philippine government controls, and creates an appointive legislative council to provide local laws, the commission reserving the right to amend or annul them. The bill will recognize Moro laws which do not conflict with American laws. The measure also gives the province its net customs and forestry collections and authorizes the council to abolish slavery.

STATE NOTES

Emile Chevalier died Tuesday at Marinette in terrible agony as the result of gangrene caused by a decaying tooth.

Edwin S. Bishop of Kenosha, who is a senior in the university of Madison, has been elected an instructor in physics for the coming year.

Andrew Staab's ten-year-old son was killed at Graton, Wis., his neck being broken by the fall of a window while he was attempting entrance.

The Rev. Warren P. Behan of Grand Rapids, Mich., may succeed the Rev. David B. Cheney as pastor of the First Baptist church of Racine.

The state board of control today opened bids for the installation of five boilers at the various state institutions. There were twenty-seven bids, and the contract will probably be awarded soon.

Suits aggregating several thousand dollars may be begun against the city of Marinette by property holders whose premises were flooded recently. Part of the city was under water for some time owing to a breakage in the sewer system.

William Tibbets, the alleged murderer of Ira Shrake, appeared before Judge Fruit of Vilanova, Wis., with his $5,000 bond and demanded his release, but the court held the bond insufficient and ordered more and stronger bonds.

Theodore Peters, a moulder, who choked his wife and threatened to shoot her Sunday evening, walked into the river at Marinette intending to commit suicide. When in water up to his neck he changed his mind and walked out.

Charles Krenske will begin a suit to oust Charles Cape as a member of the board of fire and police commissioners of Racine on the ground that Mr. Cape is not the commissioner; that his appointment by Mayor Higgins, just before retirement, was illegal.

The Monroe county Sunday school convention is in session at Tomah, Wis. Among those from out of the county who are on the program are the Rev. Chynoweth of Milwaukee, the Rev. James Brown of Marshfield, the Rev. George Hamm of Madison, and C. C. Curran of Stevens Point. About forty delegates are in attendance.

ILLINOIS UNDERWRITERS MEET

Board Convenes at Delavan Lake, Wis., for Annual Session.

Delavan, Wis., June 10.—For the sixth consecutive year the Illinois board of underwriters is holding its annual session at the Highlands, Delavan lake. The party is composed of seventy-five members, many of whom are accompanied by their wives. The principal business was the annual address by the president, H. H. Bassweller of Chicago, and the report of the secretary and treasurer, Charles F. Persch of Chicago.

HANNA WEDDING THIS MORNING

Cleveland Was the Scene of a Gay Assemblage of Diplomats for Ceremony.

ROOSEVELT THERE

Miss Ruth Hanna Was Married to Mr. Joseph Medill McCormick, Chicago

(Special by Scripps-Melroe.) Cleveland, June 10.—In the presence of President Roosevelt and other distinguished guests including a number of United States senators, Miss Ruth Hanna, second daughter of Mark Hanna, was married to Joseph Medill McCormick.

Prominent Social Event The wedding was one of the most prominently socially that has occurred in Cleveland for some time. The groom is the grandson of the founder of the Chicago Tribune and the son of American Ambassador to Russia McCormick.

In Bridal Party President Roosevelt appeared in the bridal party and escorted Mrs. Hanna to the chancel. Following the church service was an elaborate wedding breakfast at the Hanna home.

JEW BAITING IS AGAIN RENEWED

Twenty Thousand Peasants Are at Fair and Threaten Massacre.

Berlin, June 10.—According to a dispatch from Lemberg, the papers in that town publish an account of the renewal of the Jew baiting at Borestecko, Russia, near Brody, Galicia. Twenty thousand peasants assembled at the annual fair threatened to massacre the Jews, who, panic stricken closed their houses and stores and telegraphed to the governor for protection. A hundred of the Jews fled to Usty, on the Austrian border.

RECLUSE FOR THIRTY YEARS

Brownstown (Ind.) Woman Entertained Some Peculiar Ideas.

Brownstown, Ind., June 10.—Mrs. Mary A. Johnson, who died here, had not been upon the public square of Brownstown for thirty years, although she resided within half a square of it during all that time. She had not been to the depot since the civil war. She was in good health, but had long been a recluse.

GIVEN SENTENCE FOR MURDER

Jessie Morrison Is Given Heavy Penalty for Killing Rival.

Eldorado, Kas., June 10.—Jessie Morrison listened to the reading of the mandate of the Supreme court, which orders that she serve a sentence of twenty-five years in the penitentiary for the murder of her rival, Clara Wiley Castle. Miss Morrison was too ill to be moved and although the sheriff had orders to take her to the penitentiary at once, it is probable that she will be allowed to go to her home until she regains her strength.

DENIES MOTION OF BOODLERS

Missouri Supreme Court Refuses to Hear Casca Already Tried.

Jefferson City, Mo., June 10.—The state supreme court overruled the motion to transfer the boodle cases of Faulkner and Lehmann, each under sentence of two years in the penitentiary, to the court en banc for rehearing. The cases will have to be tried again at St. Louis. The court sustained the motion to advance the case of Edward Butler of St. Louis and ordered it set for argument among the first cases on the October docket.

DISHONOR MURDER'S EXCUSE

Only One of 200 Talesmen Accepted in McCool Trial in Decatur.

Decatur, Ill., June 10.—Nearly 200 men were examined in the effort to get a jury for the trial of Eddy McCool for killing McNier and but one man, George Smart of Marion, was accepted, making five in all. The fourth venire of 100 has been summoned. Many tilts between the lawyers occurred touching the opinions of talesmen as to justification for murder in the case of a wife's infidelity. A long list of witnesses has been summoned and the shooting will be carefully considered, as the prosecution will claim that McCool lay in wait for McNier to assassinate him.

Length of Cod Lines.

Some of the cod lines used in the fishing industry measure 7,000 fathoms long, or about eight ordinary miles, having 4,680 hooks, the whole costing, in some cases, two or three hundred pounds.

ACCUSES JETT IN OPEN COURT

Witness in Kentucky Fued Tells of Seeing Jett Shoot Lawyer Marcum Dead.

STARTLING FACTS

Beginning of one of the Most Noted Trials of the Mountain Regions.

(Special by Scripps-Melroe.) Jackson, Ky., June 10.—The famous Jett-White trial began this morning by the taking of testimony of the crime, the accused stand charged with the murder of lawyer Marcum about a month ago.

Startling Facts B. J. Ewan, the principal witness for the prosecution, said he saw Marcum fall and Jett walk up to him with two revolvers and shoot him in the head as he lay on the ground after the first shot was fired.

Walking With Marcum Ewan was walking away from the courthouse when Marcum was shot and was talking to the dead lawyer when the fatal bullet hit him. His identification of Jett was perfect. Troops guard the courthouse.

HOLLAND'S QUEEN IS THREATENED

Report Is that the Ruler of Holland Has Consumption and May Die

The Hague, June 10.—It is quite likely that Queen Wilhelmina will shortly go to a warmer climate for the benefit of her health, as she is suffering from a general breakdown. It is reported in medical circles that the young queen shows signs of inefficient consumption. Her condition has caused great concern. The royal physicians have advised the patient that a year's sojourn in Madeira or Egypt would probably restore her to perfect health.

HOTEL IS DESTROYED BY FIRE

The Breakers at Palm Beach, Fla., Burns With $300,000 Loss.

West Palm Beach, Fla., June 10.—The Breakers, the second largest hotel at Palm Beach, was destroyed by fire. The hotel building, powerhouse, Cory's block of stores, the Casino, south of the hotel, and one of the large cottages north of the hotel were burned. Total loss $300,000. The origin of the fire is unknown.

FIREMEN'S EFFORTS ARE FUTILE

Chinese Fight Flames at Pekin With Banners and Gongs.

Pekin, June 10.—The extensive buildings occupied by the boards of revenue and rites are in flames from end to end.

The Revenue building contains 4,000,000 taels. The burning buildings adjoin the legations, and the foreign military guards are doing effective service.

The Chinese fire department, equipped chiefly with banners and gongs, is helpless.

ASK BIDS ON TANNER SHAFT

Illinoisans Plan to Erect Monument at a Governor's Grave.

Springfield, Ill., June 10.—Forty-two monument-building firms have been asked to submit plans and specifications for a monument to be erected at the grave of John R. Tanner in this city. The estimated cost is limited to $25,000. The plans must be submitted by Aug. 1. The contractor who secures the work will be compelled to furnish a guarantee to have the work complete by next May.

ASKS FOR MORE DRUG CLERKS

President of Pharmaceutical Society Reports Scarcity in Illinois.

Bloomington, Ill., June 10.—The Illinois Pharmaceutical association and the Travelers' association opened a convention here. Three hundred delegates are here, of whom one-third are from Chicago. Congressman John A. Sterling welcomed the visitors in behalf of Bloomington and the local members of the association.

The scarcity of good clerks for drug stores was deplored by Mr. Swannell and the statement was made that there was not enough registered clerks in the state if the law compelling a pharmacist to be on hand at all times was enforced. The visiting druggists were given a banquet.

Cuba's Principal Woods.

Cuba's two principal export woods are mahogany and cedar. Good mahogany lands may still be bought on the south coast at a low figure, but the price is steadily advancing.

ILLINOIS CROPS SUFFER FROM GROWTH OF WEEDS

Heavy Rainfall Over the State Prevents Farmers from Attending to Their Fields.

(Special by Scripps-Melroe.) Springfield, Ill., June 10.—The weekly crop bulletin for the week ended June 8, says:

Rainfall occurred practically over the entire state every day during the week and field work has been almost entirely suspended, and in consequence weeds have begun a vigorous growth. The extent of the damage cannot be estimated at this time, but thousands of acres of corn and wheat have been submerged in the counties bordering the Mississippi and great destruction will ensue.

In the central district wheat shows considerable improvement. In the southern district some fields have improved, but reports are uniformly unfavorable. In localities the crop was too far gone for improvement and some fields have been plowed under. The continuous rains caused suspension of all corn work and this will be delayed for several days. Much replanting will be necessary. The crops need cultivating badly.

Ons show a decided improvement, a great majority of the reports are favorable and say the promises are for a fair yield.

URGED TO PRAY FOR REPUBLIC

Pope Urges Three Hundred Pilgrims to Pray for France's Future.

Rome, June 10.—The pope today received 300 pilgrims who are returning to their homes from the holy land. They were mostly French. The audience lasted twenty minutes. Only a dozen leaders of the pilgrimage were permitted to kiss the hand of the pope, who addressed a few words to them and gave the apostolic benediction to all. The pontiff urged the French pilgrims to "pray fervently for dear France, which needs it so much."

SPARKS FROM THE WIRE

The Iowa Masonic library was robbed Monday night of coins, stamps, and other valued relics valued at 1,000.

Gov. Hunt and his family have started for New York from San Juan. The governor said there was no truth in the report that he intended to resign.

Congressman George J. Smith of the Eighteenth New York district has been taken to a sanitarium at Danville, N. Y., suffering from a nervous trouble.

The sheriff of Monroe county, N. Y., has been asked by the Toledo police to look for the person who murdered Agatha Relehl in Lorain, O., who they think may be in Rochester.

The orders issued at Washington for American ship to go to Valparaiso have been revoked owing to the receipt of a cablegram from Minister Wilson which indicates that their presence is not needed.

The American and Mexican Smelting and Mining company has filed articles of incorporation at Washington. Its capital is $30,000,000. The incorporators are O. S. Lee, N. C. Clark, and Edwin Christy.

The Eppinger failure at San Francisco proved to have been more sweeping in its results than at first expected. The liabilities will exceed $1,378,000 and the assets $650,000. The loss will reach over $700,000.

The London court of appeals, on an appeal by Lord Sackville, today reversed the decision of the Chancery court on May 7, which granted the application of Henry Sackville West, claiming to be the legitimate heir of Lord Sackville.

The French naval boat has condemned the system of superimposed turrets in warships because in an experiment three out of four ships which had been placed in the lower turret to represent men were killed after ten shots had been fired.

In the argument on the Northern Securities case at St. Paul on Tuesday, attorneys for the company maintained that the competitive business of the defendant roads was trifling, not amounting to more than an aggregate of $800,000 at all of the competitive points in a year.

OHIO JUDGE SHOTS AT ACTOR ON STREET

Latter Fells Jurist With His Fist, Alleging Use of Improper Language Before His Wife.

Toledo, O., June 10.—Judge Caleb H. Norris, one of the best-known jurists of Ohio, became involved in a quarrel on the street at Marion with L. J. Plummer, a member of the Bronson-Johnson stock company. Plummer and his wife were waiting for a car and the former, claiming Norris used improper language in the presence of his wife, knocked him down. Regaining his feet, Norris drew his revolver and fired on the actor, but Mrs. Plummer sprang between them in time to divert the bullet, which lodged in the wall. Norris' friends hurried him away and he left the city. Plummer has sworn out warrants against him.

EAST ST. LOUIS UNDER WATER

The Levee Breaks and the City Is Flooded By a Raging Torrent.

MANY DROWNED

Attempts to Check the Onrush Is Futile and City Is Apparently Doomed.

(Special by Scripps-Melroe.) St. Louis, Mo., June 10.—The levee on the south side of East St. Louis has broken and the water is flooding a vast area.

Shortly after midnight the Illinois Central embankment at the Valley railroad crossing was washed through and the entire lower portion of East St. Louis was flooded. About 5,000 houses were deluged. The people at 1 o'clock began building a dike on Broadway in an effort to keep the water from the other portions of the city.

Tears Barriers Away.

People are fleeing for their lives. The heavy pressure that tore away the Illinois Central embankment swept other barriers aside and flowed on in a torrent into the southern portion of the city.

The business portion of the city is from two to six feet below the flood level, and if the water pours through the streets property loss will be heavy and many lives will probably be lost.

Rise at St. Louis.

With a suddenness astounding to the tired citizens of threatened East St. Louis and vicinity and even to Government Forecaster Bowle in St. Louis, the Mississippi flood, which Monday night began to recede after reaching a stage of 37.5 feet, began a rapid rise Tuesday, reached a stage of 37.75 feet, the highest water mark ever recorded in St. Louis.

—What has caused the rise is problematical. Forecaster Bowle advances as explanation that the water that has spread out through broken levees to the north is being drawn back into the channel by the receding water, and has caused a temporary rise at this point. He says the rise will be of short duration and the decline will consequently be rapid.

Refugees Find Shelter.

It is estimated that 8,000 refugees have found shelter in St. Louis and vicinity. People remaining in their flooded houses in the inundated districts are being furnished with food as rapidly as possible.

Four thousand are still living in flooded homes in Granite City, Venice and Madison. A supply boat has been secured and it will daily make trips to relieve suffering.

The viaduct leading from East St. Louis to the Eads bridge, which has been the viewpoint for thousands since the flood began, was ordered closed, as the water has, it is believed, weakened the abutments and rendered the bridge dangerous. The viaduct is the only present connection between East St. Louis and St. Louis. Trains crossing the Eads bridge must stop at the relay station, and passengers are taken by boat to land and transported to places where waiting trains can be boarded for the resumption of their journey.

Force Negroes to Work.

Cone station, East St. Louis, became a point of danger about noon Tuesday. Water seeped through the levee above the Baltimore and Ohio tracks and the police marched 100 negroes, who were standing about the city hall, to Cone station and compelled them to work on the levee.

Twelve men are imprisoned in the East St. Louis water works pumping station by a strong current, which has cut off communication by skiff with the mainland.

City Attorney Robert Hague is reported by his relatives to be missing, and they fear he perished when the city was overwhelmed. Deputy Coroner William Ballhorn of Madison county and his son, who lived in Venice, have been given up for lost. Louis Kisher and wife, who lived in Madison, are believed to have been drowned in the breaking of the levee that flooded that town. William Anchor and Mrs. Clifton and her infant have been missing for several days, and it is thought they perished.

IS SHOT BY EDITOR AT PICNIC

Woodman Is Injured and Assailant Lodged in Wisconsin Jail.

La Crosse, Wis., June 10.—James Phillips of Trempealeau was shot by Clarence Utter, editor of the Trempealeau Tribune, as a result of a quarrel at the Woodmen's picnic at that place. The first shot took effect in the arm and the victim saved himself from two others by leaping behind a door.

SEWERAGE PLANS
PASS ALDERMENCITY DADS APPROVE OF ENGINEER
KERCH'S SYSTEM.

WILL MAP FOUR DISTRICTS

Pile Bridge for Court Street—Steel
Structure Found to Be Too Expensive.

Plans for a sewerage system for this city were adopted last evening by the common council. On recommendation of the sewerage committee the modified plans prepared by City Engineer Kerch, and approved by Capt. Ruger, were accepted. Mr. Kerch was directed to draft plans of four of the seventeen sewer districts into which he divides the city, and these plans will be put before the property owners in the four districts with the purpose of entering upon the construction of the system in those districts as speedily as possible.

Districts five, six, eleven, and twelve will be first taken up. The first two are located on the west side of the river, covering a large part of the business section. Districts eleven and twelve are in the business district on the east side.

Many Matters Considered
The acceptance of the sewerage plans was perhaps the most important action taken at the adjourned meeting of the council last evening. The petitions and reports were already in the hands of the standing committees to which they had referred the preceding evening, and this tended to expedite matters.

After some informal discussion as to the advisability of reading the minutes of the previous regular meeting, which had been dispensed with the evening before, it was decided to have them read.

When the finance committee reported the wage bills up to Saturday and the merchandise bills of two weeks previous exception was made to several items. The bills from the Janesville Water company and James Shearer were held over for further consideration. The bills of M. H. Curtis, Wm. Ross, and Thomas Quinn were disallowed. This was done because the Third ward fund is exhausted. The remaining bills were allowed and the clerk instructed to draw orders upon the city treasurer for their payment.

Split on Sidewalk
In regard to the construction of a sidewalk and curb around the Carnegie library both minority and majority reports were presented by the finance committee. In the majority presented by Ald. Matheson and curb along the front of the building was recommended. In this Ald. Matheson and Schmidley were agreed. The third member of the committee, Ald. Sale, so Mr. Matheson stated, believed that the school board had perhaps been too extravagant in the purchase of a site and that the city would not be justified in expending more than a sufficient sum to build a sidewalk without curbing, and therefore a minority report was presented to that effect. When put to a vote five aldermen sustained the majority report, three opposing it. The sidewalks and curb will be constructed.

The clerk was instructed to secure an eyelet fastener for his office, at a cost not to exceed fifteen dollars.

Seventy-five dollars was appropriated from the memorial fund for the Decoration day expenses.

Bond Was Approved
George McKee's bond as fire and police commissioner was approved.

In accordance with the request of the executive committee of the Municipal league the judiciary committee presented an ordinance to prohibit the sale or firing of fire crackers or dynamite caps of a size not to exceed one-half inch in diameter. It was given its first and second reading. Ald. Connell declared that it would be unjust to the dealers who have already ordered their stock to enact the ordinance before the Fourth of July. The ordinance was held over to the next meeting.

Chief Klein's quarterly report for the fire department was accepted. The chief engineer and fire and water committees were appointed to sell or dispose of the east side fire hose teams and purchase a team better suited for the work at a cost not to exceed four hundred dollars.

New Alarm Box
A fire alarm box was ordered placed at the corner of West Bluff and Chatham streets.

An order for a fire alarm box at the corner of South Academy and North streets was referred to the fire and water committee.

The chief engineer was instructed to turn over to the street commissioner all fire hose which is unfit for use.

A report was adopted favoring the construction of a new pile bridge across the river at Court St. The highway committee had found that a steel bridge would cost about $22,000 while a pile bridge which would last for twenty years could be constructed for $6,000. $2,000 additional would keep it in repair during that period. The finance committee was instructed to take steps to raise necessary funds.

Grades on Chestnut, Palm, and S. Main streets were adopted.

Lights Out in May
The report of the light inspector for lights out during the past month was adopted and the clerk ordered to make the necessary deduction from the lighting company's bill.

The modified sewerage plans presented for the city by Engineer Kerch were adopted. The street assessment committee, acting as a board of public works, was instructed to have plans prepared for districts 5, 6, 11, and 12, showing the location of the sewers, manholes, etc., and the owners of the property touched upon.

In Spring Brook, opposite the Buoh brewery, was accepted for use as a city dumping ground.

There was a difference of opinion as to whether the band stand at the east end of the court house park should be repaired or torn down. The matter was referred to the committee on parks.

City Hall Screen Contract
Ed Donahue was awarded the contract for the building of screens for the city hall. His bid was $149.

Orders for a number of brick crosswalks in the Fifth ward were passed. The clerk was instructed to order a carload of paving brick.

F. A. Taylor was granted permission to move a building from Benton avenue to the city limits.

Brick paving was ordered for the space in front of the west side fire station.

Brick crosswalks were ordered across the driveway at the rear of the city hall and across the alley way south of the city hall.

Sidewalks abutting city property and recommended by Assistant Street Commissioner Ross were ordered repaired.

Trees Need Trimming
Ald. Connell proposed that the trees be trimmed at a proper height above the sidewalk. As there is an ordinance to that effect no action was taken.

A grade of West Milwaukee street was ordered established from Academy to Center street.

First St. in the Fourth ward was ordered widened so as to make it a safe street for driving, but it is barely wide enough for one team. The street is located just beyond the Monterey bridge, near the flag-house.

On motion the council adjourned.
Present: Aldermen Matheson, Judd, Mills, Lowell, Hemming, Schwartz, Murray, Connell.
Absent: Aldermen Sale, Schmidley.

ASHLAND ELKS
INVITE HERDS

Send Out an Invitation for a Convention in the Superior City.

Eloquent in a high degree is the invitation which the Ashland lodge, No. 558, B. P. O. E., has sent out through the state to other lodges, requesting attendance at the second annual state convention. The irrefutable appeal is given below, copies of which have been received in this city.

"To the Elks of Wisconsin: From our pinnacle on the shores of the Great Northern Sea we look out over our beloved state and our hearts warm as we see the herds grazing in their pastures green, and we long to have them follow the course of the north star and join us on our evergreen banks, where the feed is sweet and all the ills which flesh is heir to are wafted away upon the ozone-laden breezes of the Northland."

We call to the leader to the herds—we sound the trumpet that they may hear, and we even would draw them to us, for we are lonely and want their company. And not only the Elks of the herds, but their sweethearts, wives and daughters. For we have prepared a great feast and we invite all Elksdom to partake of our good cheer, to celebrate with us at the annual meeting of the herds that roam over the fair face of Wisconsin.

As it was an Ashland idea that there should be an annual state meeting of Elks, it is the wish of Ashland lodge, No. 558, that every lodge within the state participate in a love feast with them—that they spend the allotted time basking in the sunlight of our northern clime—that it may kiss their cheeks and paint them with the ruddy hues of health and happiness.

Can we say more to our brother Elks than this? Yes! simply: We love you. Come.

Don't forget the date, July 14, 15, and 16, 1903.—Sam S. Fifield, Bart Williams, George F. Merrill, M. E. Dillon, committee on invitations.

May Go to Madison Soon? Secretary Baker of the Mississippi Golf club is in correspondence with the Maple Bluff Golf club, and it is probable that a team will be sent to Madison on Thursday or Friday of next week. The Capitol City club has invited the members and ladies of the Mississippi club to accompany the team.

Machine Company Incorporated: Articles of incorporation were filed yesterday for the Badger State Machine company.

...Forty Years Ago...

Janesville Daily Gazette, Wednesday June 10, 1863.—The situation of the armies of the Rappahannock seems to be such that a battle may take place at any time. A portion of Hooker's army is on the south side of the river, so low down, probably, that Lee dare not attack it with sufficient force for fear that Hooker will cross with his main army above and assault them in the rear.

The report that Col. Montgomery's 2nd South Carolina colored regiment has defeated the rebels and taken possession of the railroad between Charleston and Savannah is another evidence that the negro will fight.

All interest, political and military centers this day upon the fearful and bloody struggle now raging around the bluffs of Vicksburg. It is the most momentous and perhaps the bloodiest fight of the campaign year.

OPENING NIGHT OF GRADUATIONCOMMENCEMENT EXERCISES OF
HIGH SCHOOL CLASS.

HISTORY, POEM AND WILL

Class Exercises and Thesis Take Up the Evening—Held In Auditorium.

Every number on the program for the opening evening of the commencement formalities of the high school class of 1903 went off with smoothness and to the entire satisfaction of a large audience. The auditorium of the high school was liberally filled with friends and members of the families of the graduating students. In addition to hundreds of chairs the basketball bleachers had been pressed into service, and helped to increase the seating capacity of the hall, which was only too limited at best.

On every floor guards were stationed in the halls to preserve order and prevent any possible accident. The sudden drop in temperature was a welcome change, and prevented any discomfort which might have arisen on a sultry evening.

Bunting of purple and white festooned the walls of the auditorium, and the class motto, "Our Effort Is Our Reward," was displayed on the front wall. The iron stringers were wound with bunting of the prevailing colors. The basketball baskets were liberally decked with purple and white. On the stage were palms and roses.

Abundance of Music
Seated before the stage was the high school orchestra, which furnished welcome music at intervals during the evening. The high school male quartette was a favorite with the audience. Music—a violin duet—was also furnished by Will Ryan, and Will Curtiss.

In addition to the exercises properly belonging to the commencement season, the B. A. R. medal for excellence in American history was presented to the prize-winner, William Spohn.

Besides a number of the class exercises—will, prophecy, poem, and history—theses were delivered by several members of the graduating class. These were almost without exception illustrated, either by simple experiments or by stereopticon views, as the case might be.

D. A. R. Medal
Supt. H. C. Buell presided over the exercises, which were opened with music by the high school orchestra.

Mr. Buell then presented to William Spohn of the eighth grade of the Lincoln school the beautiful medal, annually awarded by the Daughters of the American Revolution. The medal was given for excellent work in American history, the leading city taking the examination by which the award was made.

Henry Stow Lovejoy then gave the address of welcome. He pointed out the welcome-to-all spirit of American citizenship and of the American public schools. Having completed the high school class of 1903 is now in a position to enter upon the broader life of the American citizen.

The Weather Forecaster
"Scientific Weather Predictions" was an interesting topic in the hands of Maurice W. Smith. By the use of a series of maps and globes he was enabled to clearly indicate the methods used by the weather forecasters. High winds, cyclones, changes of temperature were taken up in succession, showing their causes and the signs upon which the members of the weather bureau rely. The history of the latter department of the government was given at length.

J. Henry Doran presented the history of the class in characteristic oratorical style. Beginning with the freshmen year he outlined the achievements of the class of 1903. In athletics—basket ball and foot ball—in oratory and declamation, in the Rush Lyceum and Laurean literary societies, and in debate the class always stood near the front. The death of Charles Anderson, who was for a time a member of the class, was referred to in touching manner.

On Famous Bridges.
Harry C. Summers' thesis on "The World's Famous Bridges" was illustrated with lantern views. Bridges in Italy, Spain, France, and Great Britain were thrown on the canvas. In this country the bridges on which the greatest stress was laid are located at New York, Niagara. These demonstrate the fundamental principles of the arch, were described. The slides used in this and the later theses were prepared by George M. Brace from originals.

The high school male quartette was given its introduction to the audience in Pale in the Amber West. They were forced to respond with an encore. The members of the quartette are Harold L. Dearborn, first tenor; Edward Kramer Doty, second tenor; Lawrence L. Doty, first bass; and John A. Harlow, second bass. The quartette made an instantaneous hit.

Lantern Slides Used
William H. Graves and Ned C. Helms jointly presented a thesis upon the manufacture of iron and steel in the United States. Mr. Graves took the manufacture of iron, Mr. Helms that of steel. The details of the important processes in use today. The subjects were treated both historically and with descriptions of present day processes.

Frank Nels Nelson was the author of the class poem, and frequent laughter was the rule while he occupied the stage. His class mates were discussed good humoredly but without gloves.

Clara M. Kriehow spoke on the "Evolution of the Typewriter." Her subject began subject began with the days when one man communicated with another through the agency of bonfires. From that day the chain of development was brought down to the perfection of the typewriter of the present time.

The high school quartette then returned and sang "Life's Golden Dream." Another encore elicited.

A home industry, the cement post plant, was taken as a subject for a thesis by Michael T. Hayes. He told of the necessity of securing a substitute for the cedar post; the upland cedar is now practically exterminated, while the marsh cedar is usually dead at the core and unfit for use. The cement post forms an excellent make shift. By samples of posts made in this city he explained the method of manufacture, and gave figures to indicate the composition of the posts and the speed at which they are turned out.

Harry F. Jones gave the class will, bequeathing many valued and cherished possessions to the heirs of the class of 1903. The document was in a humorous vein.

A Scientific Subject
Another joint thesis was given by Ross Sutherland and Roy M. Fredendall. Their subject was "Optical Experiments With Sound." Simple yet somewhat mystifying experiments in sound were performed upon the platform. Cornet music, the musical flame, and various sounds were made to illustrate the thesis.

Mary J. Curtiss gave a recitation "The Picnic" from "Lovey Mary." Her effort was well received.

While the stage was being prepared for the class prophecy, Will Ryan and Will Curtiss played a violin duet, the accompaniment being taken by Mrs. G. W. Hyde. A selection by the orchestra followed.

Josephine Edna Fenton presented the class prophecy in novel fashion. Attired as a Romany gypsy she knelt before a tent pitched on the stage, and shuffling a pack of cards the while, she pictured the class of 1903 twenty-five years from now, organized as a city founded on communistic principles. Each member of the class was described under these unique conditions, and the faculty as well.

This brought the exercises to a close, the orchestra playing as the audience dispersed.

NOT A PATENT MEDICINE

Hyomel, the Guaranteed Catarrh Cure, Prescribed by Physicians.

No one should confound Hyomel with the patent medicines that are advertised to cure catarrh. It is as far superior to them all as the diamond is more valuable than cheap glass. Their composition is secret, but Hyomel gives its formula to all reputable physicians.

Its base is the valuable eucalyptus oil, famous for its antiseptic qualities. This is combined with aromatic and healing gums and balsams, making a pure liquid, which, when used in the Hyomel pocket inhaler, fills the air you breathe with germ-killing, disease destroying and healing powers that restore health to every part of the throat, nose and lungs.

Hyomel is prescribed by physicians generally. Many of them use it themselves to break up a cold and prevent pneumonia. It is the only natural and rational way of curing catarrh.

Would it be a common sense treatment to try and cure a corn by stomach dosing? Is it not just as foolish to try and cure catarrh by swallowing tablets or liquids? The only natural way to cure this disease and all other diseases of the respiratory organs is to breathe Hyomel.

This treatment has been so successful, curing 99 per cent. of all who have used it, that Hyomel is now sold by the People's Drug Co. under an absolute guarantee to refund the money if it does not cure. You run no risk whatever in buying Hyomel. If it did not possess unusual powers to cure, it could not be sold upon this plan.

The Shopiere graded school will hold their graduating exercises Thursday evening, June 11th at the Congregational church. Shopiere. The orchestra from the School for the Blind will render the musical program. Miss Celia Cheney will preside at the piano.

Wanted Roosevelt Ten Years Ago.

More than a decade ago an invitation was extended to Theodore Roosevelt to become the chancellor of the Nebraska state university.

Just a Hint.

Some of the poems which are being published nowadays as being those which all ought to read remind us of the fact that there still is room in all the trades for industrious people.

RACED TWENTY MILES

GREAT CONTEST BETWEEN TWO FAMOUS HORSES.

Old-time Turfman Tells of a Remarkable Test of Endurance That Took Place in 1832—Race in Doubt Until Finish of the Twentieth Mile.

"I think," said an old-time turfman, "the turf has never seen a brute the equal of Black Maria, who ran twenty miles Oct. 13, 1832, over the Union course, Long Island. She was by American Eclipse, out of Lady Lightfoot, the most distinguished racer of her day, and was foaled in Prince George's county, Maryland. Her breeder was Col. John Tayloe. As Lady Lightfoot was by Sir Archy, the greatest racehorse of his day, as well as the greatest racehorse sire, and as her granddam was the famous 'Selden's Marie,' who ran to her fourteenth year, Black Maria derived her wonderful endurance by right of heredity."

"Black Maria won upward of thirty races, the majority of them four-mile heats, and was beaten but once in her eleventh year, and then by her sire, Eclipse, over the Long Island course. This grand mare was true to her name, as she was a glossy, jet black without a white mark and stood 15.3. Her head strongly resembled that of her dam, Lady Lightfoot. Her neck was delicately molded and well shaped; her eyes were expressive, and her ears remarkably pretty. Her neck came out well from her shoulders, which were broad and clean. She was high in the withers, her arms long and immensely powerful and her cannon bones short and flat. In short, she combined the best points of her sire and dam. She did and could win against the best horses of her time over any distance. Her stride was remarkably strong and steady, and in her brushes she covered twenty-four feet at a stroke.

"In the great race in which she ran twenty miles of four-mile heats she had as antagonists such good ones as Lady Relief, by Eclipse; Trifle, by Sir Charles, and the bay filly Slim, by Fling Childers. Trifle opened favorite at 5 to 2, speculators offering to bet that Maria would not take a heat. She won the first heat, Trifle second, Lady Relief third and Slim distanced. The second was a dead heat between Maria and Trifle. Trifle won the third heat, Maria second, Lady Relief last. In the fourth heat the blood of American Eclipse in Lady Relief manifested itself, and Maria was compelled to take second place again; but in the fifth heat and twentieth mile Maria went to the front, and it was a duel to the death between the two daughters of Eclipse, but Maria stayed the longer, had a trifle the more foot and won the hardest-fought victory of any horse ever on the American turf. The time for the five heats was 8:06, 7:55, 8:12, 8:29 and 8:47.

"To illustrate the kind of a mare this black demon was, when her rider dismounted at the end of sixteen miles she laid back her ears and lashed out at him with her hind feet.

"When the horses were called out for the fifth and last heat, Relief was all fire, while Trifle looked and acted as if she had enough. Maria, on the contrary, pawed the ground and was anxious to be off and have it over with. This was the first sign she had shown that she was really rounding to, and her backers took fresh courage.

"The drum tapped and they were off, with relief in the lead, Trifle right after her and Maria at the flanks of the latter mare, and there she stuck as if glued until well into the nineteenth mile, when Trifle coughed up. It was now Greek against Greek, and as the two great mares entered the twentieth mile the thousands gathered from far and near to see the grandest contest of the century were breathless with excitement. With that frictionless, machine-like stride which characterized her when she ran in earnest, Maria gradually wore down her antagonist and sister in blood, took the track with an electric burst of speed and, untouched by whip or spur, won the race by a good margin. Thousands of hats flew into the air and a mighty cheer went up that echoed among the foothills of the Catskills.

"The most wonderful feature of this great race was that neither mare was distressed, but such was the draught on the vitality of the three mares that it is doubtful whether any one animal was so good ever after. As for Maria, she was a shadow of her former self for months afterward, wonderful as was her endurance."

Danger in the Pipe.

Death, and a most terrible form of it, is declared to lurk in the tobacco pipe if it is made of clay. Such is the startling statement made by the Irish Registrar General in a special report on cancer in Ireland just laid on the table of the house of commons.

The clay "dhudeen" is very common amongst the peasantry in Ireland. It is often smoked until the shank is quite short and then it so irritates the lips of the smoker that cancer sometimes supervenes.

So They Did.

"A number of people refuse to concede that a man is great simply because he is rich."

"I know that," answered Senator Sorghum, "but you can't tell anything about popular opinion. Didn't a lot of people sneer at Galileo and Shakespeare and Napoleon and all the rest of the great men?"—Washington Star.

Easily Explained.

Stubb—"Why is it more women can not discover the 'secret of success'?"

Penn—"Oh, because when it reaches them it is no secret."

TOBACCO MEN MAKE PLANS

WILL GROW SHADE GROWN CROPS
THIS YEAR.

ARE TO COUNT COST

Is Being Started on the Heddlies
Farm Near the City Limits.

The agricultural experiment station of the University of Wisconsin has arranged with Messrs. S. D. Heddlies and Son to conduct the experiment of raising two acres of Sumatra, shade grown tobacco under cloth. The operations will be very thorough.

The tests are to study the construction of the cover and the cost, to determine the kind of soil that is best fitted for the work and the preparation that will bring the finest results. Also the different kinds and amounts of fertilizers for different soils and the amounts that will make the most gains in the plants.

Commercial fertilizers will be tested and their relative values determined. The best time of planting, and the effect upon the growth, maturity, texture and burning quality of the leaf. The best methods of harvesting, curing, sorting, fermenting and the most advantageous ways of packing the leaf. The Messrs. Heddlies intend to ascertain the cost of each separate operation and the total cost per acre.

Early Planting
Eleven thousand plants of Sumatra tobacco were shipped here from Connecticut and transplanted on the 29th of May, for the purpose of determining the advisability of early planting. The object of getting the early plants is for comparison with the tobacco of later planting as the plants grow in the ordinary way in Wisconsin will not be ready for transplanting before June fifteenth.

E. P. Standsten in Charge
Mr. E. P. Standsten, horticulturist, connected with the university agricultural school, is in charge of the work and will conduct the experiment, watching the tobacco in its growth from the seed-bed to the bale.

Appropriation of Legislature
The money to carry on this experiment was secured through an appropriation of the last legislature. Ten thousand dollars was the amount asked for general tobacco experiments, but the amount given for this purpose was in the neighborhood of two thousand dollars.

Details of Experiment
Two acres of ground favorably located on the Heddlies farm, which is within the city limits, were selected for the experiment. Poles nine feet above ground were placed sixteen by sixteen and one-half apart over this ground, their tops were connected with two-by-fours, and wires were stretched across these. A large force of men are now at work stretching the cloth over this framework. This make of canvas is called aerial tent cloth and comes 200 inches wide and eighty yards long. The canvas extends down close to the ground on all sides.

Experimented Last Year
Last year Mr. Heddlies carried on a series of tests on the same piece of ground with good results. He secured a yield of 2480 pounds per acre. Mr. Heddlies has had considerable experience in the growing and curing of tobacco and will be of valuable service to the state in these experiments.

FISH DIE IN THE BIG FISH TANK

Northwestern Round House Fish Pond
Loses Its Trout Visitors by Death.

The entire family of trout that were placed in the fountain at the North-Western roundhouse park have died. Whether their surroundings were such that they could not live in the fountain or whether they ended their own lives is not known. It is certain that they appeared lively up to the last, had plenty to eat, and fresh water was running through the basin continually. It is thought now, that perhaps sufficient shade was lacking, as trout in their natural haunts like the dark pools and recesses under overhanging banks and ledges of rock. This morning a new supply of the funny tribe arrived in a big can; these were captured in a nearby lake. In this lot are four silver bass, two blue gills, one black bass, and six sunfish. Yesterday four crabs were added to the collection and last week two large gold fish were brought from Madison. So far they appear contented and make quite a happy family.

RILEY DIED IN JULY OF 1902

Letter from Chief of Police in Omaha
Gives But Little Information.

A letter received today by the Gazette from Chief of Police Donahue of Omaha conveys the information that the death of J. J. Riley, formerly of this city, occurred nearly a year ago. His death was caused by cholera at Twin Peaks, Benquet, P. I., on July 11, 1902. Treasurer Branagan of the Philippine archipelago has in his hands a small estate for the heirs at law.

Riley is supposed to have an account with the Hawaiian bank of San Francisco, but it has been impossible to verify this as his mother's maiden name is unknown to the authorities.

Chief Donahue advises his mother, Mrs. Patrick Riley, of this city, to take up the matter direct with F. A. Branagan, the administrator. The letter which the Omaha chief of police received from the administrator was dated at Manila, P. I., May 7, 1903.

Chief Hogan has written to the administrator stating facts regarding Riley's relatives.

Eighty-five little tots from kindergartens in this city enjoyed a picnic at Yost's park yesterday morning. They were in the care of Miss Wilcox and Miss Wiggins. An equal number from Beloit were given a trip from the Line City to Janesville and back, as the guests of H. H. Clough, who personally supervised the excursion. Another party of about seventy-five Beloit kindergartners were given a similar trip today, arriving in this city this morning. The car returned directly after rounding the loop.

A Chance for the Thick Skinned.
As skin-grafting on a large scale comes into more extensive use in surgery, it becomes more difficult to procure the best material for the purpose. In fact, a medical man well known in this city says the difficulty can only be met by treating the skin as an article of commerce and buying the amount required. He recently paid $5 for sufficient cuticle to put on the limb of a little boy who had been scalded, and the individual who "gave up" part of his bone covering declared he was "tickled to death" by the operation. He calls on the doctor every now and then to ask if "any more hide" is needed.

PRETTY WEDDING THIS MORNING

MISS ANNA KNIPP AND HARRY SCHMIDLEY MARRIED.

SERVICES AT ST. MARY'S

Nuptial High Mass Said by Father
Goebel—Beautiful Music Rendered.

One of the prettiest of June weddings was solemnized this morning at nine o'clock at St. Mary's church when Mr. Harry O. Schmidley and Miss Anna Knipp were united in marriage by Rev. W. A. Goebel. The great dome of the church glistened back the few rays of sunshine that burst forth just at the hour of nine and the lighted altar with the priest in his colored robe, the four altar boys in spotless white, the bride and groom, the best man, the maid of honor, Miss Laura Knipp, in a pink silk mull, made a most pleasing picture.

Pretty Ceremony

The regular choir of the church was augmented by Lake's orchestra for the occasion and the combination of thirty-eight sweet voices supplemented by the soft strains of the string instruments made the rendering of the special music of Wagner's mass most beautiful and solemn. As the bridal party entered the church the orchestra played Mendelssohn's wedding march.

Wedding March

It was just nine when the bridal party entered the church. The two ushers, Edward Jerg and Charles Connell, came first and then followed the two bridesmaids, Miss Nellie Quirk of Rockford and Miss Edith Dilzer. Miss Quirk was gown in a pink silk mull and Miss Dilzer's dress was of white organdie. Miss Laura Knipp, sister of the bride and maid of honor, followed. She was gown in a pink silk mull. Miss Katherine Schmidtley, a diminutive miss, followed, acting as flower girl. The bride was dressed in a white silk mull and carried a bunch of bride's roses which she handed to little Miss Schmidtley as she passed up to the altar.

Nuptial High Mass

At the altar the bride was met by the groom and the best man and Father Goebel read the beautiful service of the Catholic church. The music of the mass was charmingly rendered by the choir and the great nave of the church was filled with the beautiful music.

Wedding Breakfast

Immediately following the ceremony the bridal party were driven to the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Knipp, 129 Chatham street where an elaborate wedding breakfast was served. Misses Kittie Driscoll, Grace Wilbur, Sadie Goesslin, Maude Watts and Jennie Burke assisted in serving the guests.

Many Guests

Among the guests from out of the city who were present at the church ceremony and the wedding breakfast were Mrs. Hedler, Mrs. Siegel, Mrs. J. Siebert, Mrs. J. Hawk and the Misses Emma Friedmannenberg and Alma Schmidt of Milwaukee, Miss Anna Quirk of Watertown, Mr. and Mrs. Stelner and Miss Mable Stelner, Delavan; Miss Lena Tuls, West Salem.

After a short wedding trip Mr. and Mrs. Schmidley will return to Janesville and will build a new home on the lot adjoining Mr. and Mrs. Knipp on Chatham street.

SINGS PRAISE OF PANAMA

Representative Maynard of the Norfolk (Va.) district stopped in Washington on his way home from Panama and Colon, where he spent a week or more sight-seeing and resting, according to the Washington Star. Mr. Maynard praised the isthmus and its future, and was enthusiastic about its future, he said:

"I never was more agreeably surprised with any country than I was with the isthmus. In my opinion that part of South America is the country of the future. If I were a young man and footloose there, is where I would go. The delightful climate I encountered, the productivity of the soil and the great undeveloped mineral wealth of the country go to make it one of the best places in the world for the young man seeking a new country to country to grow up with. This, combined with the fact that the isthmian canal is soon to be built, makes it a place of an unusually promising future."

"I had always heard of the unhealthy climate on the isthmus, and I was hardly expecting to find such fine weather as I did. The nights were delightfully cool and pleasant and the days were all that could be desired. It was just the beginning of the rainy season when I was there and I never saw more pleasant weather anywhere. Another surprise which was in store for me was the absence of yellow fever. I had heard that the isthmus was a veritable hotbed of the disease, but I didn't see a sign of it either in Colon or Panama. I heard after I left that there were several cases of both typhoid and yellow fever, but the people did not seem to be a bit more afraid of it than we people here in the United States are afraid of typhoid. People there do not think of moving out of their homes simply because a case of yellow fever develops next door. They simply look upon it as meaning a sickness of ten or fifteen days, not usually under, under proper treatment, attended with serious consequences."

"I was out several miles from both cities during my visit to see the great rubber, coffee, and chocolate plantations. They certainly make fortunes for those who own them. The soil is exceedingly fertile and productive, and these things grow without the least trouble. Why, if you plant sugar cane it grows so thick that you cannot get through it without cutting your way through with a machete. And when one goes out into the forest he has to take a machete along to cut a path. The soil is far more fertile and productive than our own. No soil of ours will grow as luxuriant vegetation as I saw on the isthmus, and that right at the close of the dry season."

"The price of good land down there ranges anywhere between $1 and $100 per acre, and when you have it under cultivation you have a veritable gold mine on top of the soil. Summing up my impressions of the isthmus of Panama, I believe that there will be the country of great opportunities for young men in the near future."

Colon Talks.

There is a young man in this city, about ten years of age, who has a mind worthy a Munchausen. Monday afternoon he disobeyed parental instructions and took a trip with another lad up the river. Arriving at the three mile creek he stopped to play. The water was fascinating and it was not long before his jacket was literally spattered. Then he awoke to the situation. Punishment would inevitably follow if he went home in his present plight. On the other hand if he did not go home, and that right soon, punishment would follow with equal inevitableness.

In such a dire extremity the youth had recourse to the inventive capacities of his intellect. The boy is also something of an actor. Arriving at home sobbing and dirty he told a hair raising tale. A band of men had captured and overcame him, bound him to a tree, and there he had suffered. To give weight to his narrative he had thrown away the jacket, and he told how he had been stripped of part of his clothes by the highwaymen who had tortured him.

It was a pathetic tale. Neighbors were taken into consultation, there was talk of organizing a vigilance committee to hunt down the guilty parties. Through it all the lad sobbed and shook with fear as he recalled his sufferings. Suddenly a great light dawned on the anxious parents. In the language of the day, their young hopeful had been "stringing them." It is understood that the boy had expressed an earnest purpose to adhere to the straight path of truth hereafter, old fashioned methods of areal instruction.

IT MAKES WOOD LAST FOREVER

Seasoning and Preserving Is a New Method Endorsed by the Government.

The rapid disappearance of the best American timbers has developed a new method of economy, which is, in brief, that inferior timbers shall be pressed into service and by proper seasoning and preserving be made to take the place of those more valuable.

The idea is the inevitable outcome of wasteful cutting, long continued which has culled the forest of the best trees, so that industries requiring high grade woods at a low cost are less and less able to obtain supplies at a price which they can afford to pay. White oak, for example, was for many years practically the only wood used for railroad ties. So abundant and cheap was this timber that it never occurred to the railroad that it would not always continue to be abundant and cheap. They were laid without seasoning two days after they had been hewn, or were left to lie and decay in ditches of water before they were put into the track. But conditions have changed; white oak for ties, fence posts, piles, and other common purposes cannot be used to the same extent as formerly, and its place has largely been taken by inferior timbers.

It is not enough that forestry on a large scale replace the present wasteful methods of cutting since forestry can not make up immediately for what has been lost. It is essential, while administering wisely to forests which still remain, that the timber cut be now put to their highest use; that a good timber be put only to a high grade purpose, and that a poor timber be sustained for good timber whenever it will do the work required.

This kind of forest economy the Bureau of Forestry, having in mind the increasing demand for good timbers and the diminishing forest resources, has persistently urged and encouraged. By every available means it has attempted to find uses for woods not now regarded as merchantable and to substitute them for woods rarer but better known. The railroads especially, enormous consumers of wood, have been impressed with the necessity for such substitution. Lodge pole pine in the Northwest has been laid as ties during the last year instead of the but pine. Shortleaf and loblolly ties will probably soon replace those of longleaf in Mississippi, Louisiana, and Texas. Hemlock and tamarack may take the place of oak and pine in other parts of the country; and when oak is used at all for ties it will be the inferior species instead of the valuable white oak.

The substitution of low grade for high grade timbers depends on what can be done to increase the lasting powers of the substitutes; in other words, it depends on timber preservation. Special treatment must so prolong the life of the inferior timbers, and at a cost so small as to make the investment a good one.

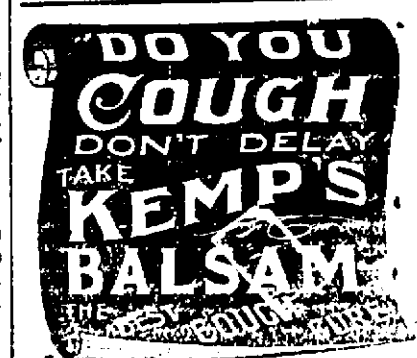

In the first of a series of bulletins on problems in timber preservation just issued by the Bureau of Forestry as Bulletin 41, "Seasoning of Timber," by Hermann von Schrenk, the seasoning which precedes the preservation treatment is dealt with. Dr. Von Schrenk's seasoning experiments, made largely in cooperation with railroad companies, although still in the preliminary stages, have already developed facts of very considerable importance.

The main advantages of seasoning timber are that seasoned timber lasts longer, since the water in green timber is necessary to the life of decay-producing fungi; that it greatly increases the effectiveness of the preservation treatment; and that by reducing the weight of timber it causes a corresponding saving in freight.

In Europe, all railroad ties, bridge materials, telegraph poles, fence posts, etc., are commonly seasoned, the time of the seasoning varying from several months to two years. In this country the tremendous development of the industries that require building lumber has pressed the lumber manufacturer so hard that he is forced to send out a poor product which the consumer is willing to take in that condition rather than wait for thoroughly seasoned material. Properly seasoned material commands a high price and sometimes can not be obtained at all.

One of the interesting facts brought out by Dr. Von Schrenk's study is that, as a rule, high grade timbers like white oak and longleaf pine, being very much denser than timber of low grade, are not so readily penetrated as the latter by the preservative fluid; and that is, therefore, much more economical to treat a low grade, porous wood like beech, which ordinarily lasts only four or five years, than a high grade timber. Beech so treated has outlasted oak several times. For a similar reason, "it would be a great waste," says Dr. Von Schrenk, "to attempt the treatment of white oak or longleaf pine, when better results will be obtained by using loblolly pine or red oak."

Dr. Von Schrenk's bulletin contains

It Cures Coughs, Sore Throats, Croup, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Asthma, and all other lung troubles. A certain cure for consumption. See how you will see the excellent effect after taking it first, down a cold by dealers everywhere. Large bottles 25 cents and 50 cents.

detailed accounts of different methods of seasoning, both open-air seasoning and by kiln drying; the result of seasoning tests in different parts of the country and with different timbers; tests with telephone poles, etc. The bulletin will be of special interest to railroad men who have followed the experiments with close attention.

Lightning Kills Four Men.
Woorster, O., June 10.—John Winkler, John Shook, S. E. Reham and Clark Fisher were killed by lightning near Sterling. The men were framing a barn and carrying a heavy timber on their shoulders when lightning struck the beam and tore it to splinters, killing the four men instantly.

Police May be Too Short.
New York, June 10.—An investigation has been started by the civil service board and Commissioner Greene into a charge that the machine which has been used for measuring applicants for the force is defective and that many policemen are too short.

Fated

To Die of Paralysis Like Father.

Helpless Invalid For Three Years.

Dr. Miles' Nervine Made My Nerves Strong.

"For many years I suffered from terrible headaches and pains at the base of the brain, and finally got so bad that I was overcome with nervous prostration. I had frequent dizzy spells and was so weak and exhausted that I could take but little food. The best physicians told me I could not live; that I would die of paralysis, as my father and grandfather had. I remained a helpless invalid for three years, when I heard of Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine and began using it. That winter I felt better than I had before in many years, and I have not been troubled with those dreadful headaches since I first used Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine. My appetite is good and my nerves are strong."—Mrs. M. M. Beckwith, 2223 Oakland Ave., Minneapolis, Minn.

"For many years I suffered from nervous prostration, and could not direct my household affairs, nor have any care. My stomach was very weak, headaches very severe, and I was so nervous that there was not a night in years that I slept over one hour at a time. We spent hundreds of dollars for doctors and medicines. I was taken to Chicago and treated by specialists, but received no benefit at all. Finally I heard of Dr. Miles' Nervine and began its use. I was surprised that it helped me so quickly, and great was my joy to find after using seven bottles, that I had fully recovered my health."—Mrs. W. A. Thompson, Duluth, Minn.

A WELL-TIMED RAID

COMMANDED BY SERA T. CHUB.

The Rexall Soldiers score another victory over their enemy, Dyspepsia.

It has been Mr. Boarder's habit to take his meals at all times and places wherever he might fancy.

Being a strong man, he felt no ill effect for some time, then his appetite became irregular, and his food distressed him, and finally the mere sight or odor of food became nauseating. At this time he began to realize that he was a captive of Dyspepsia, and try as he would he could not break his bonds. His weight fell off, he became nervous and irritable, could not sleep, and his sufferings were intense.

The Rexall soldiers rescued Mr. Boarder just in time, and took him to their headquarters, Smith Drug Co.'s store, where he was supplied with Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets. To the surprise and joy of Mr. Boarder he has gained strength and weight, and soon expects to take up a man's full work again. He attributes his release from Dyspepsia entirely to the curative properties of

MISS MAY MARKELL

A Society Belle of London, Canada.

MISS MAY MARKELL of London, Ontario, Canada, is a beautiful girl who knows what suffering is and Wine of Cardui has brought her back to health. She is one of the social favorites of her home and her recovery to health has permitted her to enjoy the company of her many friends instead of lying on a bed of sickness and suffering. For the health she now enjoys she gives credit to Wine of Cardui. She writes:

Miss May Markell.

"I have found Wine of Cardui an excellent remedy for female trouble. I suffered for three years with terrible bearing-down pains at the menstrual period. I could hardly stand on my feet and was never real well. Wine of Cardui was the only medicine that I could depend on to do me any good, as I tried several with no success. Wine of Cardui cured me and I have now enjoyed perfect health for two years, and give you all the credit for I know you deserve it."

For a young girl Wine of Cardui is the best remedy to guide her through womanhood by starting the menstrual flow in a healthy and natural manner. Menstruation started right is very easy to keep regular through the years of mature womanhood. Then the "change of life" need not be feared. Thus Wine of Cardui is woman's best relief from youth to old age. A million women have secured blessed relief from their sufferings by taking this treatment. It relieves menstrual troubles in an incredibly short time. In a simple case of deranged menses Wine of Cardui never fails. To relieve disordered menses is to remove the cause of other female troubles. Any physician will tell you that to remove the cause of a disease renders the cure easy, in fact seldom fails to complete the cure. If you would have the same relief which Miss Markell secured try Wine of Cardui. You can take it without an examination and without any publicity whatever. You can take it in the privacy of your home and secure just as much benefit as if a doctor had prescribed it for you. Thousands of women are feeling the vigor of returning health by taking Wine of Cardui.

IS GOOD INDIAN NOW.

Love Led Allen Walking Shield to the Gallows.

Hanged for Murder of His Sweetheart's Old Mother—Three Years at Carlisle Changed the Girl's Sentiments.

Allen Walking Shield, a full-blooded Sioux Indian, was hanged at Sioux Falls, South Dakota, the other day because the white man's civilization estranged his sweetheart, and because his attempt to elope with her ended neither his way nor her mother's.

Walking Shield wore till his death long, native hair and wrapped a gaudy vermilion blanket about him when he slept in his tepee; so he didn't understand why Mabel Ghost-Faced Bear wore strange clothes when she came back from Carlisle Indian school, and why she looked over his head when he sought to claim her. But he tried the white man's way—went at dead of night to get her and carry her away into the Bad Lands. But it went wrong, for her mamma, Mary Ghost-Faced Bear, intercepted him and he shot her, and now is dead that his sweetheart might have retribution.

Ten or 12 years ago, when Walking Shield was but a reckless, stalwart boy, the Indian maiden admired his prowess and the two became friends. Walking Shield's native restlessness found vent when he robbed the store of Sylvan Winter, the post trader at Ever Brook agency. With tools passed to him by the Indian girl, he saved his way from the jail. He ran to safety amid the bullets of the guards, jumping from side to side in zigzag fashion as an Indian does when trying to avoid the marksman's aim.

Walking Shield was now a hero among the Indians, and the officers did not rearrest him, fearing an uprising. Six years ago he and his brother were put in the Deadwood jail for stealing cattle. His brother committed suicide.

"BUT WHAT WAS THAT NOISE?"

side, and one night Walking Shield struck out for the foot hills, and was not recaptured.

While these adventures injured his social standing among the Sioux in no way nor the affection of the girl for him, they were not pleasing to Mrs. Ghost-Faced Bear. Mabel was told in the "ki-ki" talk never to see her lover again. Red blood runs under red skin as well as white, and Mabel Ghost-Faced Bear whispered to Allen Walking Shield she would go with him to some far hunting ground. Walking Shield rode to the cabin lodge one night, but Mrs. Mary Ghost-Faced Bear expected him and the girl was locked in her room.

The next day Mabel was taken to the agency and the outgoing stage carried her away to the Carlisle Indian school. It was three years after when she came back. She was a different girl. Half-civilized now, she shuddered at Walking Shield's devilry. She would have none of him. Walking Shield went to his tepee and smoked long at a pipe of kinikinnick. It was Mrs. Ghost-Faced Bear who kept the girl from him. Mrs. Ghost-Faced Bear must be pushed away. He decided to wait.

The night of May 8 last the skies were black with tumbling clouds. The gurglings of the approaching storm drove the red men to their tents. But Walking Shield did not sleep. At midnight he saddled his broncho and rode away to the cabin lodge of Mary Ghost-Faced Bear. In front of her door he stopped. The lightning's flashes and the expostulations of the thunder excited his petulant blood and he was soon half-crazed. Suddenly he lifted his Winchester to his shoulder and fired through the door.

There was a startled cry within, and a moment later the Indian saw in a flash of yellow light the woman's face at the door. She swung it shut, bolted it and hurried away. Walking Shield fired through the back window and the woman fell dead.

A moment later Walking Shield was rousing the girl he sought. "Somebody shot at me as I passed the tepee," he panted. "Your mother has gone for the police."

"But what was that noise?" asked the girl, as she passed her mother, gasping on the floor.

"It's nothing; just the spitting of the lightning," he urged, as he stepped outside and closed the door.

"I won't go. I want to know who shot," demanded the girl.

For answer the powerful Indian clutched her about the waist, lifted her to the pony's back and rode away down the nearest gulch. But a week later he gave himself up.

CHASE SLAYER TO HIS DEATH

MURDERER COMMITS SUICIDE

Fires on His Pursuers From His Hiding Place Until His Ammunition Runs Low, Waves a Flag of Truce, Then Shoots Himself.

Shoals, Ind., June 10.—Surrounded by a posse of fifty enraged farmers, his ammunition nearly exhausted and every means of escape cut off, Arthur Lyons, the slayer of his stepmother, committed suicide by shooting himself through the heart.

The sensational death of the young murderer ended a chase which has lasted for four days, in which more than 300 farmers took part. Lyons had sent a note to Sheriff Holsapple, who headed the posse, that he would not be taken alive, but his pursuers were not prepared for his taking his own life.

Fires on Officers.

The fugitive was seen near Caxton, and it was thought he was headed for Bedford, as his sweetheart, Miss Ivy Hinkle, is employed there. Bloodhounds were placed on his trail and tracked him to a point near his home in Burns City. Lyons was concealed in a thicket and when the officers surrounded his hiding place he opened fire on them with the two revolvers he carried.

The members of the posse returned the fire and one of them was wounded in the foot.

Takes His Life.

Finally Lyons found his ammunition exhausted. Emerging from the thicket, he waved a flag of truce and the posse waited for him to approach. Suddenly he waved his hand as if to say good-by and then placed a revolver at his breast and fired. When the nearest pursuer, who was only twenty feet away, reached him he was dead.

Lyons served as a soldier in the Philippines and won a medal for bravery. He had been counted as a model young man at his home, although reports were current that he had killed a man in San Francisco. It is said he has gone about armed since his return.

At the home of his father, Joseph Lyons, he shot and killed his stepmother, Mrs. Addie Lyons, without a word of warning, and then fled.
